Dear Neighbors,

ComEd has had a monopoly on providing electrical service and supply for my entire life, and that of my parents. (My grandparents grew up in the days of gas lighting; Peoples Gas was known as Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Co.; the gas was a byproduct of the coal coking process). But that monopoly has gone the way of the dodo bird as we have the brave new world of competition for the energy component of our electric bills. (If you read your bill closely, you see two types of charges: for the distribution network, and how much juice you actually use, then a host of taxes, fees and other gimmicks). Maybe it’s just me, but I’ve noted a 10–20% increase in my electric bill since last year, with no discernible increase of usage. Did ComEd get a stealth rate increase that somehow I missed? And what about the smart grid that is supposed to vary your charges according to when you turn your lights on?

We’ve asked a ComEd representative to our April meeting to discuss what to expect from alternative energy suppliers, and how to avoid scams. ComEd is not a benevolent actor in this drama: they still get paid for providing the lines and the transformers. But they’ve sold off a lot of their generating capacity (particularly the coal-fired units which were a public relations-and environmental-nightmare). Still, ComEd has lots of ‘splaining to do about antiquated infrastructure, service that seems third world, and a host of other issues. Bring your questions to April’s meeting.

Despite our effort to rally our members about the judicial elections, voter turnout at last month’s primary was the lowest in ages: maybe it was the fact that there were no top-ticket races on the Democratic side of the ledger. (Nobody got very excited about Dorothy Brown v. Richard Munoz in the Circuit Court Clerk’s race, and Mitt Romney provided little reason to spend part of that glorious mid-March day at the polls.) The judicial candidates’ races went pretty much as the Democratic party wanted them: so far as I can tell, the slated candidates all won. The Cubs’ home opener is April 5th, and we’ve invited the team’s community relations person to tell us about what’s new at Clark and Addison. We’ve all read about Theo Epstein, Dale Sveum and the McDonald’s lot; less well known is what is going to happen with the “triangle lot” at Clark and Waveland (where the ice rink has been the last several years). A planned development was proposed for that parcel about a decade ago, but for all I know, the time to develop it has expired and it may be back to the drawing board. And then, there’s the question of the concerts: I won’t bore you with what we’ve discussed at other community meetings regarding payments for using Wrigley as a rock emporium. Suffice it that politicians (and wannabes) see untapped potential for getting their favorite charities and causes funded courtesy of the Boss, Sting and Jimmy Buffett.

When I first moved here during the first year of King Richard II’s reign, the corner of Lincoln, Lakewood and George was a marvel of meat processing: chickens went in at one end of a building and pot pies came out the other. There was even an outlet store for damaged packages. The last vestige of this quintessential Chicago usage, Wetterling’s Butcher Shop on George is up for a rezoning to residential use, and we’ll vote on it. Details will be provided at the meeting. See you then’

Sincerely,

David G. Duggan

APRIL 2012 MEETING PREVIEW

Cubs Care and by the way of being sponsored by the ball club the Theo Epstein Chicago Cubs (no players) will appear this month. A representative will discuss the charitable activities of Cubs Care and how the summer concerts, Brad Paisley in June and maybe the Boss later generate funds for area schools and organizations.

ComEd – the SLN Board has been discussing alternative energy providers that are now available. But inviting one would seem to be promoting that particular company. So the Board decided to bring the electric provider to give their viewpoint on the issue and to discuss plans to improve Chicago’s electric issues as we approach what may be a hot summer following the warm Spring.

1244 W. George St – Zoning Change. The 2900 block of Lakewood, the 1200 block of George St. and the west section of 1200 Oakdale were at one time major meat processing plants. Battles between businesses and residents were frequent. But all the businesses moved to more spacious areas that were more conducive to conducting meat processing and allowing truck deliveries. The final meat processor, Wetterlings, is on the block. Currently zoned M1-2 for limited manufacturing. The developer is requesting a zoning change to RT-4 in order to build a 3 story single family house. This is the maximum zoning for 25 ft. wide lot to build a single family house. It would be somewhat bigger than the other houses to the east. The down side to the location for a single family home, is that it is located across the street from the Elbo Room and next to a vacant building that has housed in recent years, troublesome night club businesses such as La Vida that the neighbors and the City closed down. This will be a voting issue.

AT THE MARCH 2012 MEETING
The judicial forum presented by SLN for the first time ever was pretty interesting to say the least. Voters never see candidates for the judgeships. In a perfect storm situation, 3 judgeships in the County Subcircuit became vacant for this election. 10 candidates for these vacancies attended. The candidates expressed their appreciation for the forum as many discussed, they know how to be judges, but no one has figured out how to run a judge election campaign. President and moderator, David Duggan was at his irreverent best with some off the chart questions. No need to rehash the answers, as the primary election is over. The winners were all Democratic party slated candidates: Celia Louise Gamrath, who was seated to the far left, had a slight case of laryngitis and was very sharply dressed with 49% in a 4 person race, John Ehrlich, tall, introspective and no tie or suit coat with 35% in a 6 person race and Deborah Jean Gubin, who had a sore hip and had trouble getting in and out of her chair when answering the questions with 54% in a 3 person race.

What struck this reporter about the event was that all 10 candidates had 20 plus years of legal experience. They definitely were not slick politicians but they all seemed pretty down to earth in conversations that I had with them during the social ½ hour before the meeting. And to me, they all seemed to be honest, professional individuals. But I still think that O.J. didn’t kill anyone, so what do I know. They were also generally quite short.

Local resident Diann Karen Marsalek won her judge election for the Circuit Court of Cook County. Congratulations.

What’s with all the middle names on the female candidates?

FORGOT to REPORT from the FEBRUARY MEETING:

A Plate on Southport, 2819 N. Southport – Sidewalk Café.
The owner Sanyakon Wanmoephon presented his plans for a small sidewalk café. His family has owned the restaurant for about 4 months. The capacity will be 4 tables with 8 seats total. To be in operation Tuesday to Sunday 11AM to 10PM. Restaurant reviewer Joni G. (who had a bag over her head to hide her identity) commented that she had given the current owners a very positive review in a recent SLN newsletter. A hand vote was taken. Approve : YES=24, NO=0. The information was forwarded to the Alderman.

South Lakeview Playlot – Mayor Daley proclamation May 24, 1969.
A blast from the past. Mr. A. Mead Gifford, former president of SLN in the late 1960’s and still a grandfathered-in member even though he no longer lives in the boundaries came to the March meeting unannounced and asked to speak to the membership. While cleaning out his stuff, he came upon a plaque from Mayor Richard J. Daley proclaiming May 24, 1969, South Lakeview Neighbors Day for their work done in procuring the land at the corner of Wolfram and Lakewood as an neighborhood park. Formerly a coal yard, that had caught on fire. Mr. Gifford related how SLN fought hard to have the City obtain the land and turn it into a park. Mr. Gifford hoped that SLN has kept up the park. Of course, now known as the South Lakeview Playlot with funds raised by SLN and events run by the Advisory Council, it is a jewel of the neighborhood.

Mr. Gifford also related how SLN got the Tiger Inn at Southport and George, a trouble-maker bar in the neighborhood, closed down. Some things never change.

OFFICERS and DIRECTORS
The Nominating Committee is looking to assemble the 2012-2013 slate. If you want power, and I mean real neighborhood clout and you want to get out of the house another Tuesday night and meet in a bar, you want to be an officer or a director. Want the Alderman to listen to you, become an officer. It is known fact that current officers start every phone call to a government agency with “Hello, my name is John Q, Public and I am an officer of SLN.

BURLEY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL – Friends of Burley – www.friendsofburley.org
Burley School – the only school located in the SLN boundaries – is about to get even better with the addition of the Burley Community Park. On schedule to be completed for the start of the 2012-13 school year, the park will be a neighborhood amenity for many years to come.

Friends of Burley, 501(c)(3) tax exempt organization, continues to fundraise for additional park and outside projects. Proudly display a personal message or family name with decorative bricks to be installed in front of the school. More information about the park and support the campaign can be found at our website.

The SLN Board approved a donation for the purchase of a large brick for the Burley Community Park at the March Board Meeting.

2012 Local School Council (LSC) elections will take place at all elementary schools including Burley at 1630 W. Barry on Wednesday, April 18, from 6AM-7PM. Your local LSC consists of parents, community members, teachers and the school principal. Primary responsibilities are approving the school plan, the budget and any new principals.

LAKE VIEW CITIZENS COUNCIL - LVCC
www.lakeviewcitizens.org.
As reported by Mark Anderson-SLN representative.
LVCC has been meeting with the Cubs regarding summer concerts at Wrigley Field. To date, the Cubs had agreed with Alderman Tunney and donated $75,000 for each concert they have had. The donation goes to various local projects. The LVCC subcommittee has been meeting currently with the Cubs regarding this years concerts and the donation amount.

ARE YOU RECEIVING THE NEWSLETTER by EMAIL or GOING to the WEBSITE to READ the NEWSLETTER, but you HAVE NOT PAID YOUR DUES?
The title of this article says it all. If you are reading the newsletter on-line and feel there is no reason to pay dues, please consider that SLN has 7 membership meetings per year with political speakers, candidate election debates and informational speakers. SLN pays rent for the space of these meeting. As a not-for-profit, SLN still has insurance cost for liability and directors and officers, newsletter production costs for those who are not getting the email version, flyering costs for voting issues or big speaker events such as the Alderman, Secretary of State filings and other expenses. So if you live in the fine boundaries of SLN between Belmont and Diversey and Racine and Ravenswood, please fill out the membership form supplied with the website and send in your dues. Only paid members can vote on all issues including zoning changes, liquor licenses, street cafes, new business, etc.

I SAW THIS SIGN on a BUILDING
The vacated Bank of America Building on the 3100 block of Ashalnd (Roberts Hall for the old-timers) had a work permit sign in the window. The owner listed is the owner of the Pet Care Medical Building across the street. The sign on the building also says “LEASED.” We will try to find out what is going on.
